

Andrew Collis Hardenbergh

Hardenbergh, Andrew Collis May 1, 1950 November 15, 2017 Minneapolis. An artist and architect, Andrew's sketches, watercolors, and lunar calendars show his amazing hand. We will remember his one-liners, his kindness, his ability to listen and empathize. Survived by siblings Chalmers, Nicky (Garrick), Marylee, Reid, Jan (Gail) and nieces, nephews, cousins. Graduated from Yale University and U of M Architectural School. Descended from generations of Minneapolis Hardenberghs: great-grandfather Charles (Mary), grandfather Clarence (Margaret), father Collis (Nancy). Memorial service on Sunday, November 19, 2017 at 1:30 PM at the A Mill, 315 SE Main Street, Minneapolis. Memorials: donation to Minnesota Public Radio or ASPCA.

Published on November 17, 2017

() GUEST BOOK

Post as

SUBMIT

Star Tribune reviews all guest book entries to ensure appropriate content.

Our staff does not correct grammar or spelling. FAQ \(http://www.startribune.com/obituary-guest-book-f-a-q/238868691/\)

---

Bill Eggers

So sorry to hear of Andrew's passing. He was a true friend growing up in the adventure land of Frick's Garden Tracts in Plymouth.

Just spoke of him to boyhood friend David Johnson who came back for our WHS 50th Class Reunion in September. My sympathies to all the Hardenberghs.

1 hour ago

Reply

---

Jim Cookman

Andrew! I met Andrew in Quogue lo these many years ago, one of the people I was happiest to see every summer when we went to my grandparent's house for a couple of weeks. Years later, I was on a train out of NYC to CT late one night. Andrew walked in, sat down next to me and started talking just like we saw each other for lunch, not 10 years before. Perfect moment. A couple of years later, when I was in hospital after being hit by a car, Andy would come to hang out, even though he had... » more

3 days ago

Reply