

The architect's plans for the National Headquarters Building for the American Institute of Architects provide transitional material, ^{between pictorial and} ~~the~~ They ^{big} buildings are not architecture really, for he says that, "Architecture is what gets built. Pretty picture of unbuilt work is only A.E.T." These blueprints present ~~a~~ ^{the} architect's answers to a problem of which the reader ~~has~~ possibly has prior knowledge. The schemes seem to be rather reactionary in character, but aside from that observation it seems wiser to let the drawings stand for themselves.

SPACE

(The mirror scheme was not actually submitted; the second scheme was submitted with the attached comments.)