Hi Jan,

sorry for the late response. Please go ahead and post the image on Wikipedia if you want. You have my permission 😊

Hi Marcel,

Thank you so much for allowing me to put the image on my website.

I would very much like to add it to Wikipedia under Cortical Columns.

To do that, it needs to have a Creative Commons license. <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/4.0/>

The simplest thing would be for you to post it to https://commons.m.wikimedia.org/wiki/Main\_Page

Or,

I was able to add an image on behalf of someone else, so I could try that.
<https://commons.m.wikimedia.org/wiki/File:SocialIntuitionistCC.jpg#mw-jump-to-license>

If you give me explicit permission to add the CC BY SA logo to the image and state the appropriate attribution, I think that would work.

Thanks again!

Dear Dr. Oberlaende,

Your image from the 2012 of the cortical columns is the best image out there and it appears on many webpages.

<http://www.neuroinformatics2012.org/abstracts/beyond-the-cortical-column-2013-structural-organization-principles-in-rat-vibrissal-cortex.html>

I gave an informal talk on predictive coding and I am putting it onto the web. I used it live & in person, so

I made a version wit proper credit

Can I keep it here: <https://www.jch.com/jch/notes/pc/intro.html>

Thank you so much for a response.
